2. If you are using a Mac computer or laptop, you may need to give the Google Chrome browser permission to use your microphone and camera. To do this, do the following:

Try first: Giving permission on Chrome:

- Click the lock icon to the left of your address bar in the Chrome browser
- In the dropdown under Notifications, you will have the option to allow access to your Microphone and Camera.

Try second: Giving permission on your computer:

1. Navigate to your System Preferences then navigate to Security & Privacy

2. Unlock your system security & privacy settings by clicking on the lock in the bottom left corner
3. Select Camera and make sure the checkbox is checked next to the Chrome browser

4. Repeat this step for the Microphone option
5. Exit System Preferences.
6. Close and restart your Chrome browser.

3. Forte is designed to have the leading quality audio using your computer's microphone and speakers. However, it is also compatible with external mics. If you have an external mic that you would like to use, first follow the microphone's set up directions to connect to your computer and install any necessary software.

When you log into your next lesson on Forte, select the gear icon at the bottom-right of your screen. Select Choose Microphone and you should see your external microphone listed.

Now you should be ready to go. Enjoy Forte!
